HAVAS

London, 4th—Parnell has abandoned his action for libel against the Times, which will pay him £5000 damages.

Rome, 4 h—Advices from Massouah say that the Italian troops have evacuated Adua and returned to Adigrat.

Bologna, 4th—The health of the city is unchanged. The cholera case on Saturday was sporadic, not contagious.

Rio, 4th—Glycerio has been definitely named Minister of Commerce and Agriculture.

GALVESTON.

Washington, 4th—A horrible tragedy has occurred by which the wife and daughter of Secretary of State Tracy have lost their lives. There is general mourning here. President Harrison was at Tracy's bedside when he recovered consciousness; he asked the President where his wife was, and the President could not answer. Blaine lost last night his daughter, Mrs. Coppinger, and this has added to the public grief. Blaine has lost his brother, sister-in-law, son and daughter in the last two months. The Senate suspended sitting as a mark of sympathy to Tracy and Blaine.

London, 4th—Lord Salisbury will return here on Wednesday and hold a Cabinet Council at his residence to decide on the speech from the Throne.

Vienna, 4th—Dr. Baker, Professor in the Klausenberg University, claims to have discovered an antiseptic that absolutely cures hydrophobia by destroying the virus in the place bitten. It is a solution of chloride of broma, sulphuric acid and permanganate of potash, with eucalyptus oil.

Monsignor Yeregny, Bishop of Montevideo, died suddenly on Saturday night from heart disease. Imposing and crowded funeral in the Cathedral to-day.

Races yesterday were brilliant and crowded. International Prize won by Tilemuque, Lady Flora second, Cormeilles fourth, Bolivar last. Other winners were Pavanne, Lucrecia, D. Juanita, Kleber and Suri.

Wintor Evening Entertainment Society definitely constituted; rules approved; committee elected: Satow president.

Bull-fight yesterday poor, although one man was slightly hurt.

Colonel Juan Sierra, veteran, died; military funeral to-morrow.

Influenza increasing; cases reported from camp.

Bolsa business rather quiet, but prices favourable. Obras opened at 30 and closed at 33. National Bank 104½. Unifieds 71¾.

Benefit for Enrique Santos at bull-ring on Sunday next; he is a great favourite.

(From the Interior.)

Cordoba, 4—The festivities in honor of Bocayuva continue. Yesterday the party visited the San Roque Dock. The President was there. This morning we had a pic-nic to the mountains.

Last night a concert was given in the Plaza Juares-Celman. Minister Bocayuva is off to Tucuman on Wednesday. They say he has received a telegram from Marshal Deodoro recalling him to Rio.

Salta, 4—Dr. Arias has been named minister of Government and yesterday took over the portfolio.

A petition is being got up with a view to urge the Government to withdraw the guarantee on the Central Northern Railway.

Mendoza, 4—Ortega and Guiñazu have been summoned to Cordoba, by the President, who intends settling the quarrel.

Tranquility now prevails, but everyone feels that the quarrel may break out anew at any moment.

Rio Janeiro.

Rio, 4th

Cabinet crisis continues, and it is said Minister Bocayuva has been recalled.

Government has put on 30 per cent on Customs dues from March 1st.

DEATH OF DR. RAWSON.

We regret to announce the death of this distinguished gentleman, who during the Mitre administration filled the important post of Minister of the Interior, and inaugurated the works of the Central Argentine Railway at Rosario more than a quarter of a century ago.

Dr. Rawson was born in San Juan in the year 1821. His father, a North American doctor who settled in San Juan in the early portion of the century, was of Irish descent. The subject of this memoir followed his father's profession, and at the fall of Rosas settled in this city, where he soon rose to the highest distinction in his profession. He served as Deputy for San Juan in the Parana Congress, where he became the leader of the liberal party, and on the reorganisation of the republic after the battle of Pavon, he was invited by President Mitre to take the portfolio of the Interior, which he held till the close of that administration.

Dr. Rawson was beloved and respected by all. As a statesman he was the nearest approach to the Gladstonian type we have had in this country. His policy was ever straightforward and honorable; he was a square man in the truest sense, and the Mitre administration owed much of its prestige to the wisdom of his councils and the rectitude of his conduct. It is, indeed, difficult to do justice to the political character of Rawson, without offending contemporaries. Another generation has sprung up since Rawson left the Government house. We may have improved and have gone ahead immensely. Our city is more populous, our railways are more numerous, our productions quadrupled; but as we lay our humble wreaths on Dr. Rawson's grave, the light of other days comes back on us, the smell of the fresh earth from the yet open grave brings up a past which shines in effulgent brightness when compared with the cloudy, overcast position of the country's affairs to day, and we can wish the nation no greater boon or blessing than another Rawson in our Government house.

The whitewashed wall of the Minister of the Interior's office, the cane-bottomed chairs with a few old fuzzy benches brought down from the Parana Congress, Rawson himself, as simple as the furniture of his office; and yet with all the present painted splendor of our Government House, there is not now, nor has there been since then, another in that department to rival him as an orator, a statesman or a patriot.

In the days of Rawson there was a strong opposition party, and the attacks of the press were as bitter as to day, but somehow the status of politicians was higher than now; and although every paper in town attacked Rawson's policy or speeches in Congress, there was not to be found throughout the whole Republic a paper to charge him with availing of his position to further his private ends or those of his party.

Have we improved then in our public affairs since the days of Rawson? Before we screw down the coffin lid let us settle the question.

Dr Rawson died in Paris, far from the land of his birth.

The Central Argentine Railway should of right be called the Rawson Railway, since we had it from Mr Wheelwright himself, that but for the aid and protection lent him by Dr Rawson he never could have floated his company or built the road, which stands a landmark in the economical history of this country. To others we shall leave the task of sketching the political life of this distinguished man, as in the hurried obituary notice of a daily paper it is impossible to do justice either to his memory or to his acts; but at least we may testify to the universal regret expressed at the news of his demise, which is always a proof of departed worth; and we claim him as our own through the blood of his Irish ancestors, the stamp of which we trust will survive in his descendants.

BRAZIL PAST AND FUTURE.

(From the "Contemporary Review.")

7. COMMERCE.

During his reign Dom Pedro had the satisfaction to see commerce quintupled, as shewn by the official statement of imports and exports combined, viz.:

	Annual average.
1836-41.....	9,900,000
1852-61.....	22,800,000
1872-81.....	39,600,000
1885-87.....	43,600,000

The fiscal system has, nevertheless, always been essentially bad, all successive generations of Brazilian economists being blind believers in the "balance of trade" theory of the Dark Ages, and hence directing all their efforts to stimulate exports and diminish imports. They succeeded in their insane purpose, the exports being always largely in excess of imports, viz.:

Average yearly, £

Period.	Imports.	Exports.	Surplus Exports.
1862 66	13,700,000	15,100,000	1,400,000
1872 74	17,200,000	21,400,000	4,200,000
1885-87	20,400,000	23,200,000	2,800,000

Trade is lamentably hampered by oppressive tariffs; customs' dues on imported merchandise in 1887 amounted to £8,400,000 or forty per cent. of the value. Brazilian statesmen excuse themselves by saying that import dues must form the bulk of the public revenue, but a good deal of the money thus collected is subsequently wasted in bounties to sugar mills, cotton mills, etc. It was stated in 1886 that some mill companies had drawn heavy sums in Government guarantees, without ever having turned out a pound of sugar or a yard of calico. Our trade relations with Brazil do not increase much; they amounted last year to £11,890,000, against £10,800,000 in 1878. Internal commerce depends chiefly on railways and rivers; the freight on the former, as Colonel Church truly observes, is often excessive, and the rivers traverse very thinly-peopled territories. The itinerary of the Amazon country shows a length of twenty-two thousand miles, including tributary rivers, of which the Amazon has one hundred bigger than the Rhine.

So much British capital is at stake in Brazil that it is necessary to approach this part of the subject with cool discrimination. The growth of revenue and debt is the first point for consideration, viz—

Year	Revenue	Debt
1864.....	6,100,000	18,700,000
1874.....	11,200,000	72,100,000
1888.....	14,100,000	107,200,000

All South American financiers speak of increase of revenue as proof of growing prosperity and wealth, when it is sometimes the reverse, being simply an increase of taxation and poverty. Brazil depends so largely on her agricultural products that the value of her exports affords a fair measure of her wealth and resources. If, then, we compare the figures for 1888 with those of 1864 we find that in 24 years wealth and commerce have risen only 54 per cent, while taxation has increased 133 per cent, and public debt nearly 500 per cent. The increase of taxation is in fact mainly the result of growth of debt, the latter having risen £88,500,000 since 1864, which is accounted for thus:—

Paraguayan war...	48,000,000
Railways.....	26,000,000
Sundries.....	14,500,000
Total...	88,500,000

The actual debt of 107 millions sterling is not excessive. The burthen of taxation is, however, apparently as much as the country can conveniently bear. We have seen that the sum total of Brazilian industries is hardly 70 millions sterling a year; the general taxation is, therefore, equal to 20 per cent. This is exclusive of local taxes, which are usually more than 60 per cent of those of the nation, each province having its own customs dues over and above what is collected by the imperial officials. Thus nearly one-third of the total earnings of the Brazilian people go in taxes, whereas in the U. Kingdom we pay only 125 millions sterling a year out of a gross income of 1,260 millions, or about 10 per cent. In one respect, of course, the burthen of taxation comes to be less felt in Brazil than elsewhere: one-half of the population consists of negroes, who have few wants or expenses, and whose labour, meantime, helps so largely to swell the national revenue. It is quite possible that Brazil could raise her taxation if necessary to 20 millions sterling, by simply reducing the income of the 40,000 planters on an average £150 each. As long, however, as the finances be carefully handled there is no reason for any more revenue than at present. The taxes might even be lightened if the bounties and guarantees on sugar and cotton mills could be abolished.

Perhaps it is better at present not to raise tariff questions that might cause feelings of rivalry. Let the new Government go on in the beaten track, and be a little more liberal in lands to immigrants. The danger of a labor crisis is probably exaggerated. It is said, indeed, that the coffee crop last year fell off by one third, consequent on abolition of the slavery. Some confusion must be expected at first, but the country will rapidly recover its energies. The United States at present produce twice as much cotton as before the abolition of slavery; there is every reason to expect that Brazil will likewise increase her exports, especially as the influx of Italians, Germans etc. contines unbated.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent)

January 31st

The President, on his way to Cordoba, was in Rosario just long enough to find out that his coming did not have the effect of opening the fountains of enthusiasm in this apathetic and heretical South American Chicago. Dr. Juarez is decidedly not a popular man in Rosario; and had it not been for a really popular man, our worthy President's countenance would only have been seen by the railway staff. Fortunately for him, he has one staunch friend here, Mr. Pedro L. Funez, who is at this moment the most popular man in Rosario, not so much politically as socially, for his frank and liberal character and his generosity.

Mr. Funez, the other day, on being elected president of the Club Social, gave a splendid ball at the club at his own expense. Knowing that there would be no spontaneous demonstration in favour of Dr. Juarez, Mr. Funez ordered a dinner to be served at the station and sent out invitations to a select number of his personal friends. By this means the President found himself received on his arrival by about a hundred respectable "vecinos," the greater part of them not his friends, but Mr. Funez's.

On the other hand, on his native heath Dr. Juarez is treated like another Alcibiades. The street, they say, from the Station to the Plaza, was carpeted with fifty dollar shinplasters, old emission. These, however, will be carefully collected, for they form with the ten dollar note the only circulating medium in the province of Cordoba, from which land of promise (as to pay) all respectable and semi-respectable greenbacks have disappeared. The Cordoveses have reason to worship Juarez Celman and his brother: they taught them "la haute finance" and also "la haute politique," as our friends in Buenos Ayres have found out to their cost.

Our unfortunate Port Works are doomed to remain unfortunate. The more we want them, the more we can't get them. Our great empressario, Mr. Canals, got the contract from the National Government to finish them, and commenced the work with commendable activity, but little by little it became neglected, and for one reason or another, the work is paralyzed. It is said there is no timber; but I am inclined to think the funds have given out, like the Panama Canal. For the same reason, the paving the streets, which Mr. Canals also has, is stopped. For the latter work, as I have stated in former letters, Mr. Canals was paid in advance—"cosas de Santa Fe" —His biggest undertaking is the making of about a mile and half of wharves or warehouses to the south of the town, a lucrative concession obtained from the Government Of course this necessitated the purchase of a large area of land that will be wonderfully increased in value by the said works. By the by, the greetings between Mr. Canals and the President were quite affectionate. The latter appreciates the go-ahead character of the former. He looks upon it as one of the important factors of the "maravilloso progreso del pais", vide Dr. Juarez and Dr. Galvez's after dinner speeches.

The "staff of life" is rather a sore subject for us Rosarinos. We have for the last three or four years been living under the despotic tyranny of a Bakers' Ring, that through the apathy of our late Intendente has done just what it liked. During all this time consumers have been paying exorbitant prices for bread, and even now when flour has fallen 50 per cent, the loaf is small and as dear as it was last year. The ring is in command of a large protective fund, which it can use for the purpose of bribing, or fighting and competition. In fact it would be impossible for any independent bakery to establish itself in Rosario; it would be smashed up in a week by the ring. It is only the Municipality that could tackle the monster, and up to the present they have allowed it "carte blanche". Blessed be the niggers of the Dark Continent, who furnish rings and the world at large with palm oil! In Cordoba the Municipality has brought the bakers up with a round turn, but in that city they had not a wealthy ring to contend with; if they had, palm oil would have been in requisition, and the Cordobeses are fonder of that than the finest olive oil.

Straws show which way the wind blows. The visit of Dr. Juarez Celman to his native heath is exercising all the intriguing capacity of the good Cordoveses. They are desirous that Dr. Juarez' advent shall be signalized by the nomination of his successor to the presidency. They are taking time by the forelock. This would appear to give a semblance of truth to the report that Dr. Juarez Celman is going to invite all the Governors of Provinces to Cordoba, with the pretence of meeting Mr. Quintin Bocayuva, but in reality to discuss the momentous question.

In this momentous question Mr. Marcos Juarez, the President's brother, and by the grace of Honeycomb (Paaal), Governor of Cordoba, thinks himself no mean factor. He makes no bones in declaring that the next President must also be a Cordovese. General Roca has a strong party in the city of unstamped shinplasters; but Gen. Roca is not a Cordoves. So Mr. Marcos, in the salon of the Panal, in speaking on the subject, in his usual bluff way, said he was for Carcano. "Ramon", he said, "is a good fellow, and is a good friend to his friends; he is a good Cordoves, and will do ever so much for his Province and her sons. Roca—we all know what he is; he is a traitor to his party, and does not love the Cordoveses." (What a shame of Roca.)

Now, then, my dear STANDARD, I have given you the tip; you know where the sun is to rise. For my part, I enclose you my card, which you will please send to Dr. Ramon Carcano, who belongs, not to the coming race, but to the race that has already come.

The weather still continues propitious for the harvest, and we may say that the whole of the wheat crop is housed, that is to say, stacked. Our friend Mr. Ferguson the indefatigable agent of Lamport and Holt, has sent home the first lot of new wheat, 200 tons, in splendid condition. A good day's rain would not come amiss for the maize fields and young ducks and green peas; but take it all together, the C of the W has treated us very well so far.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris 28 Dec. 1889

The republican journals here do not go much out of their way, to give an helping hand in the way of sympathizing articles to that latest edition to the augmenting republican family—the United States of Brazil. Perhaps this is due to the influenza epidemic, which upsets everything from crowned heads to costermongers. The slowness of Uncle Sam to recognize the new order of things in Brazil has also an unfavourable influence on their stability. It is unfair to judge the events in Brazil by European standards; they must be examined from the local standpoint of view. It would be well, however, if the provisional government would curtail as much as possible the period for the holding of the first assizes of universal suffrage.

Over so vast a territory, seven times the extent of France, and having to deal with new masses and classes, it is not easy for Brazilian authorities to compose an electoral roll right off. In France the provisional had also its long duration. The present republic—the third since 1789, had been proclaimed in September 1870, when the second Empire went down like a coffin ship; yet it was only in 1875 that it was permanently voted and that too by a majority of only one—to be the legal constitution of the land. When Napoleon I decreed the establishment of the Empire, he upbraided Monge, the director of the school of engineers, with the opposition displayed by the "alumni" towards imperialism. "Sire," replied Monge, "give them time; remember we have only just terminated the task of making them republicans." For political slogging at Brazil; give her time.

I have been shown letters from impartial writers, resident in Lisbon, who paint the progress of republicanism in Portugal as marching in Seven League boots, and that the Serpa Pinto raid in East Africa was really organised to draw off public attention from the rickety situation of the Braganza throne. That this is most probable, is corroborated by the parrallel letters received here from the region of Mozambique, where the Arab dealers have a fair trade with French, Italian, American and English "commercants" at Madagascar, relating the important military and naval expedition in course of preparation to open up the inland regions of the Zambesi. It was this expedition, avowedly and officially pre-prepared, that Major Pinto was told off to lead in due course against the Makolos; thus coming into designed collision with all-round British interests. It is out of that fix that the Portuguese Minister has to extricate himself. If England—as she seems to be inclined to do—pins the Lisbon authorities to these concrete and responsible facts, the latter must swallow the leek. The republicans will then rise, and in the name of patriotism will send the King to join Dom Pedro. That accomplished, they will discover a "modus vivendi" to live good neighborly with the British in East South Africa.

Despite the progress of what is baptized the influenza epidemic, the midnight Masses on Christmas Eve and the religious services on Christmas Day were very fairly attended, and the communicants were never so numerous. Those who conclude that religion is losing its hold on the French commit a very serious error. France is a long way from turning adrift her 36,000 clergy and converting the churches into school-rooms or lecture-halls, or reading-clubs. The bribe to "economise" the 53 million frs of endowment will not induce the nation to "bouleverser" institutions and social usages so intimately bound up with not only the unity but the very vitality of France—terms, perhaps, synonymous. If the Third Republic would only cease sticking pins into the religious institutions of the country it would soon disarm every opposition.

The endemic—that's the question of questions. Its extension does not bear out the assertions of the doctors on its first appearance, that it was only an ailment of four or six days' duration, and would be totally gone by a month. We are now edging on to the sixth week of the visit of the compulsory and unwelcome guest. The afflicted have not only to submit six days to the scourge, but six weeks. It cuts up patients rapidly; depresses the whole nervous system and makes the recruitment of strength very slow and up-hill work indeed. A thready, disagreeable cough or huskiness lingers behind that fatigues the bronchial system and lays it open to many attacks. This explains the unpleasantly voluminous death-roll from lung disease, incident on the strange influenza. Very eminent medical authorities do not view it, now at least, as a sickness to be pooh-poohed. They recommend care, prudence, and precaution—three virtues ever worth practising in health as well as in disease. The influenza has directly caused the death of some young persons, and this augments the alarm. Then, if the Asiatic cholera be stalking westwards, the expected work of collisions between bloated armaments will likely be discounted. Not individual members of a family, but whole families are suffering from the epidemic; not one tenement of a house, but the entire house, registers the presence of the enemy. Visiting, the giving of parties, the holding of schools—apart from the season vacation, all are interrupted. Were the giver of a wedding feast, to fall back on the highways and byeways to collect uninfluenza guests, to replace absentees, he would not succeed. One curious consequence of the annoying plague is, that the sufferers part with their appetites, and thus provision or food dealers, bitterly complain of reduced sales. Despite this inertia of trade, retailers display no inclination to diminish prices.

And the political world? Nobody seems interested in its movements. People have had sufficient excitement during 1889, and are now desirous to "rest and be thankful." Taking advantage of this prostrate condition, this comatose situation, of public opinion, the Minister of Finance is accused of harboring the design of springing new taxes on his fellow country-men. The latter can take their revenge and will be blessed into the bargain, if they can indicate any other plan of raising the wind to meet national expenditure without laying on fresh fiscal burdens. It is only a few months ago that France voted 22 millions francs to augment her "supra" marine ships; now she is to be called upon for the ways and means to build a "sub" marine fleet, since it has been demonstrated by the new gun-boat "Gymnote"—electric eel—that it is possible to navigate under the water, at any depth desired, so that once beneath an iron-clad that may be armed with 120 ton guns or a whole nursery of Woolwich Infants, a "Gymnote" could shoot up the monster, like a "jet d'eau".

The Chamber has adjourned for holidays. From a retrospective examination of its seven weeks' labor, the opinion appears to be fixed that it is not markedly superior to its predecessor, and that the nation may feel thankful if it avoids turning out to be worse. The wire-pullers and the lobbyists are again in position. It is possible that less ministerial skittles will be indulged in, and that all parties and groups—divisions that have resurrected like a poor relation, will not cross the marked wish of the country,—to be allowed to enjoy tranquillity. There is a gratifying accession in the coalesced monarchists; a party of the true-blues has resolved, that henceforth it will no longer vote straight and solid against Ministers because they are republicans, but will back them in carrying measures for the national good. That's patriotism.

Less patriotic is the conduct of the French society of artists. They have voted that all the recompenses discerned at the 1889 Big Show by the honorable jurors—the majority of whom were French, of course—shall remain a dead letter, as if such awards never had been made. The object of this is to exclude the foreign prize winners from the right they would possess from the honor of having one of their pictures admitted to the annual show of paintings, known as the "Salon," and so crowd out the products of artists to the manor born. In a word, it is the temple of Ephesus in danger. Only the foreigners so awarded—as at the two previous Internationals—1867 and 1878—do not send many of their works to the French shows. Meissonier, Carolus Duran, Jervex, etc., have seceded from the society, followed by other high-minded colleagues, at this slap in the face given to the Government—who invited foreign artists in the name of France to contribute exhibits—as well as the unfriendly, unjustifiable and unprofessional kick out by "confreres." The Government must authorise Meissonier to found a new society of artists, with more chivalry and less mercantile instincts.

Madame Carnot's ball to four hundred of the very poorest children selected from the twenty wards of the city—an equal number of boys and of girls—was a thumping success and a noble and maternal idea. The children were conveyed in omnibuses to the Elysée Palace, and received as guests, "ex equo" with Madame Carnot's own family and friends. A Punch and Judy show, a substantial lunch, the gathering of toys from a forest of Christmas trees, a warm-hooded cape to each "invité," a savings' bank book with a credit opened for ten francs—such formed the bill of fare. And the children were waited on as if princes and princesses, and received in all the gorgeous rooms. At parting, each child was given a basket of cakes and toys for home distribution. The republicans in the king's coaches is nothing to the olive branches of the children of "prolétaires" in king's palaces. What a lesson to social snobbery; what a happy levelling-up! "Esto perpetua."

DEMARTINO GOLDMEDALLED

This clever Italian artist is of late causing such a flutter of pleasurable excitement in our fashionable amateur world that half an hour spent in his company will surely not be considered "tiempo perdido". Far otherwise, indeed, for Demartino, having travelled over more than half the habitable globe, has managed to pick up an idea or two.

One of the best and most useful books that ever stood in a library is that well-chosen collection of choice literary "morceaux" known as "Half hour with the best authors". Herein the student of history, science, and art can dive at once into the hiddens depths of his favorite subject, drawing therefrom (if he has got any brains in his head) those "gems of purest ray serene, the dark unfathomed caves of Ocean bear" without tediously wading kneedeep through interminable lakes of shallow reading with which the free press and freer pens of frothing novelists threaten to deluge us.

And has it never occurred to anyone to supply us with a Kindred volume "Half an hour with the best artists". Surely the life and labours of these great observers of life and manners would be both novel and instructive; illustrated by copies of their best paintings such a work would be pretty certain of a large sale with corresponding gain to the enterprising editor. Would that this poor tribute to genuine merit might be found worthy of forming a chapter in such a work.

Of all the studios it has ever been our happy fate to wander wonderingly through, none presents a simpler or more attractive "coup d'œil" than that of our hero, with daily brush in hand, at Calle San Martin 628. Beyond a few paintings of his own to cover the bare walls of an empty almacen, there is possibly nothing good, bad or indifferent for the human eye to rest on. Damask hangings, colored glass windows, mosaic floors, "articles de vertu," and the thousand and one other efforts of foreign genius with which even the best artists too often bedeck themselves, are here most conspicuous by their entire absence.

Here then Signor Demartino stands before us on his own merits, as every truly able man should do, irrespective of trade or profession; for those who surround themselves with unnecessary and too often with unmeaning external adornments, have seldom an overlarge stock of internal embellishments or innate worth, the true test of every true man. Demartino, although an Italian by birth, is more than half an Englishman, having resided long within the sound of Bow Bells and speaking English like Gladstone. A gentleman and a scholar, his best efforts are ungrudgingly given to his charming profession, and so perfect a master has he become with the brush that what others regard as inspiration he treats as purely mechanical. Thus, having once thought out his subject, he can sit down and daub the canvas over in a thousand different colors with amazing rapidity, this, too, while his legion of admirers are all the time chatting and singing round about him. This rare feat, which destroys all the poetry of the art, was performed at San Isidro last Sunday in presence of a large and influential concourse of ladies and gentlemen. In five hours Signor Demartino actually finished a painting that takes ordinarily as many months. But this was only a "tour de force", as nothing can be more repulsive to his artistic feelings than working by the hour like a common trades man. The spectators were both charmed and astonished at this extraordinary feat and insisted there and then on goldmedalling our friend. His best works are "The Battle of Trafalgar", the "Siege of Gibraltar" both of which were bought by Mr. J. Clark for £1,200 stg. each.

Sr. Garcia Corthua purchased the s.s Maskelyne, in which the artist made one or two trips across the ever-palpitating breast of the fierce old South Atlantic.

"Tempi Felice".—A view of the Cerro from on board an English ship in the port of Montevideo, is faithful to life.

The same may be said of the "Burning of the s.s. America", the colors being so true to nature that one instinctively recoils to avoid the heat of the flames; but amidst that struggling mass of affrighted humanity we miss the noble figure of Viale, who gave his life-belt to a lady—"Salesve Vd, Señora." The Admiral Browne off San Blas and the Patagonia coming into port are evidently intended for the Government house; every spar and rope on them is admirably depicted. We cannot conclude without expressing our regret that so clever an artist is so soon to leave our shores, and we but utter the sincere desire of his numerous friends in wishing Signor Demartino fair winds and a favorable tide when the fogs of London induce him to turn South in search of a milder climate.

The summer's sun at noonday shines not brighter than does the future career of this great marine painter now present itself, nor are its meridian rays warmer than are the sentiments of esteem in which Signor Demartino is held by all who know him.

THE RUBBER MONOPOLY.

HOW IT WILL BENEFIT THE NEW BRAZILIAN GOVERNMENT.

It appears now that the Compania Mercantil, which has obtained the Para rubber monopoly, has been attempting to secure this enormous concession for many years, but has never before succeeded in making an impression upon the Government. All the same, the news has come as a surprise to the rubber trade, as it was never believed that Count Viana [or Baron Gondoriz, as he is known in Brazil] would gain his point. The Compania Mercantil is the only native exporting company in Para, with the exception of one or two small individual firms, and Count Viana is a man of great influence, particularly with the new Government, for he has always been a Liberal in politics. When he visited Europe, three or four years ago, he openly advocated the policy of his company's fighting for and securing the rubber monopoly. Count Viana is a man of remarkable fertility of mind in his business enterprises, and is always advocating bold and original plans. In attempting to induce the Para Government to grant the concession he has always argued that the price of rubber in Para was too low, and that it would be to the advantage of all concerned there to have prices raised. The low prices, he said, were solely beneficial to the exporters, who were almost entirely foreigners.

The commerce of Para is mostly in rubber, and Count Viana pointed out that high prices would result in great additions to the public revenue; that is, if an export rebate of, say from a farthing to five-sixteenths of a penny a kilogramme were given to his company, he could so increase the capital of his company that it could maintain the high prices, and, as the exports are "ad valorem," the treasury would secure great pecuniary advantage from the increased price. Count Viana guaranteed that prices should not go below 2500 reis per kilogramme, which is three hundred or four hundred reis above the present prices. This then is the scheme which the Count has carried out, and which will go into operation on January 1st, unless the edict of the Para Government is revoked by the Provisional Government at Rio.

Mr. William R. Grace, being interviewed upon the subject in New York, said, "While the news regarding the concession to the Companhia Mercantil is quite correct, our firm will not ask the Government to interfere until we know more about the matter. We learn by cable from Para that foreign manufacturers and shippers are greatly opposed to this thing. And well may they be opposed to it, for it gives the Companhia Mercantil a bonus of two hundred thousand dollars, taken out of the pockets of the rest of us, and it looks like an attempt to give them control of the trade."—New York Paper.

Railway Items.

Telegrams were received yesterday stating that a petition is being signed up country for the suspension of the Central Northern Railway guarantee, as the most effectual means of ensuring a more regular service. There are many other means yet to be tried before resorting to so extreme a step to bring about the desired result.

Mr. Wauer's report for January on the East Argentine Railway was received yesterday at the Board of Public Works. It shews that, with the exception of certain parts between Concordia and Chagari, the roadbed is in excellent condition. Of the ten locomotives, six are in service and the rest in the workshops. The company have a full equipment of rolling-stock, and are therefore well able to cope with the traffic. The service during the month was very satisfactory.

Mr. Pirovano, chief of the Engineers' Department, has submitted to Government for approval Mr. C. Koenig's report on the state of the Pacific Railway. Mr. Koenig, it may be remembered, was commissioned to report on this line with a view to enable the Government to specify the works that must be done to place it on a sound working footing, and the inspector informs the Minister that all the work done by the Company so far must be considered merely of a provisional nature. As we have already given some extracts from Mr. Koenig's report, we need only state that the level of the line, where subject to inundation, will have to be raised in accordance with his, and not the Company's calculations. The work, moreover, will have to be done this year.

We learned yesterday from the Government House that the Minister will not allow the East Argentine to run its fifty new wagons until proper brakes be provided.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

More blasting heat yesterday, and everybody thoroughly done up. We would have given up the ghost ourselves, but for a visit from Mr. Popper, the gold-mining King of Tierra del Fuego, and the pioneer, we may say, of the opening up of that distant part of the Republic. He gave us for our museum so many nuggets of pure gold that, so far as we are personally concerned, we can defy the premium for the future, and do not care a jot if it goes to 1000 or higher. This gold from Mr. Popper's mines and washings is wonderfully pure, quite as much so, we believe, as the ore of the wonderful Morgan Mountain of Gold in Australia, of which we gave particulars some days ago.

What will they say in Lombard Street and in poor Belgium, where they are so full of Cedulas. Thirty millions more are to be issued. Ye gods!

The death of Dr. Rawson removes one of Argentina's great sons. As an orator, statesman, patriot, writer and medical man he was equally eminent, and his countrymen of all parties render homage to his memory. Government has decreed public honours for his remains. The flags on the National buildings will be half masted today. Dr. Paz, the Argentine Minister in Paris, will represent the Government at the funeral there; and all the expenses there and here, when the remains are brought home, will be for Government account.

Passengers who went down by the Jupiter to Montevideo on Saturday night from La Plata say that the innovation is an improvement in some ways, and not in another. Some say they prefer five minutes in a Ligurian boat to an hour in a dusty train to get on board. There is really no pleasing the public. This first trip was rather jolly, as we understand the Company generously "stood" champagne and Norwegian beer for the propitious occasion.

The news from that delightful watering place Necochea is rather gunpowdery. It appears that the police pounced on 24 Remington rifles in Mr. Quiroga's quinta. The inference is that they were intended for purely patriotic purposes in connection with the recent Municipal shindy in that remote quarter.

The letter in the Nacion about the Floresta Italia is the most amusing thing we have read for long time, and we beg to metaphorically grip the writer's hand. It will do one good, viz, put a stop to the autograph humbug.

The death of Mr. Thomas Dillon, son of the late Mr John Dillon of Los Leones, Suipacha, at the early age of 30 years, has caused wide-spread regret, and we tender to his family and relatives our sincere condolence. Few men of his age attain such general respect and estimation as he was held in. At the funeral, on Friday last, the immense concourse of sorrowing friends from near and far proved this: Peace to his ashes.

It is announced in fashionable circles that there will be more balls and dances this Carnival than for many a year past. It is also said that the genuine "beau monde" mean to cut the Corso and all its wretched fooleries completely this year.

President Juarez's trip to the Interior will be over before Saint Valentine's Day, and he will return to this city. It is not known whether he will go to Mar del Plata or not.

Mr Arthur E Shaw, the popular ex-manager of the Northern and Ensenada Railways, sailed for England yesterday on board the R.M.S. Atrato, accompanied by Mrs Shaw. Numerous friends went to the passenger mole to wish him "un buen viaje," among whom we noticed Messrs Robert A Wilkinson, Juan E Clark, Arturo Brown, E K Penrose, Guillermo Horrocks, Sumner, Howard, Bocquet, Robinson Elliott etc. We understand that Mr Shaw intends returning to his adopted country within four months.

It is a curious fact that Berlin, which of all the cities in the world contains the largest number of Jews, is also at the same time the city which consumes the largest amount of pork. It thus appears that, not reckoning the millions of kilogrammes of hams and bacon imported every year, they kill in Berlin 481,832 pigs, whence we find that a Berliner consumes every year more than one-third of a pig.

Scene: An editor's sanctum—

Master Printer (rushing in excitedly): Here's a go! Johnson, the murderer, has just been found innocent, and the Governor has telegraphed a pardon. We've got the whole account of the hanging set up with illustrations, and the form is on the press.

intending of his hotel, The St. James, Mar del Plata, found it impossible to devote the time and attention necessary for the working of this important industry. We understand that Mr. Byrne intends working on even a larger scale than heretofore, and contemplates the forming of a town there, as the works are situated at the convergence of two important Railways, the Pacific and the Western, each having a station close to the works, which are in the midst of important agricultural industry. We believe that building sites are now selling in the vicinity at over a dollar the square yard.

Mr James F Gahan has sold 2,500 head of cattle al corte at 7 1\2 dollars.

Owing to the death of the late Mr Thomas Hope, the firm of Hope Hermanos has gone into liquidation, and a new firm has been formed under the style of Robert Hope and Co., the partners of which are Messrs Robert Hope, Enrique Ottman and Jose Perez.

The Royal Mail packet Atrato cleared to-day with an enormous cargo, heavy mail and full list of passengers, but took no gold and but a small amount of exchange. She took, however, large lots of Cedulas. The following is a list of the first-class passengers :—C L Shaw, wife, infant and nurse; Miss A Hadden, C Akers, L Reinschneider, Mrs Grant Hildyard, F K Bull, B B Blake, C W Seiberling, Mrs Isaacs, Miss Gross, R W Kiljour, A Schneckenberg, W C Tryell, Camille Von Reeth, Mrs W J Carroll and child, J McBurney, K S Craven, Candido Lopez, Gilbert H Gibbs, Miss M Miller, Captain England, John Hawkshaw, S Hawkins, Mr and Mrs H Watts, A L Muggeridge, Dr Hadden, Messrs Wigram, Philip, Gascoyne, J Isaacs, A May, D Forrester, C B Wilson.

The Finance Minister issued a decree to-day authorizing Messrs. Emilio Castro & Co. to erect on land they own at South Barracas, docks for loading and unloading goods, produce stores, grain elevators etc. The land is on the right bank of the Riachuelo, and known as that of Unzue and Canos, with frontage to the east on the Arroyo Maciel. They will construct railway and tram lines to connect their docks with existing lines. Government will have exclusive right to the port dues, and the owners to wharfage, storage, dock and other dues, and can sell the concession.

It is no surprise, but is still a sign of the times to watch the movements of some of our joint-stock concerns. Yesterday we announced the winding-up of the National Pavement Company, and we see now another company which has declared nearly 3000 shares cancelled owing to the holders not having complied with their obligations, in other words, not having paid up the calls on the shares. A notice to this effect has been published by the Great Hotels Company. To the above may be added the significance of another concern, the balance sheet of which shews profits of 4 millions in round numbers, on which a dividend is declared payable in obligations; the shares of this company stand at a handsome discount. Lastly, a further concern declares a dividend of 69 o\o, but payable in cash only 19 o\o and 50 o\o in very much depreciated shares of another company. These are unequivocal signs of the terribly tight state of the market and the strain to which "boom" and contraction have reduced many of our erstwhile leading companies.

Advices from Rojas announce everything flourishing there and in the neighbouring partidos. The camps are in splendid condition, animals fat, and farmers and estancieros all making money fast; whilst in the inside partidos and in the south sheepfarmers sustained heavy losses in the flocks, in Rojas everything has flourished.

The untrustworthy state of the Boca Channel to the docks has been vigorously taken up by Messrs. W, Samson and Co., who shew the Home Secretary in a letter the futility of having 23 feet of water in the docks when vessels drawing less than 20 feet get stuck in the channel and keep blocking up the way. The dredges are all at work at Martin Garcia, so there is no hope of improving the channel for the present, unless Government takes steps in the matter. We shall publish Messrs. Samson and Co.'s letter to-morrow.

The dreaded rumour afloat that the P series of Provincial Cedulas is to be increased by a further issue of 30 millions finds no echo of belief in the market, as the series improved in price to-day. It seems also almost incredible that the board could counsel or the Government accept such a proposition in view of the terribly depressed state not only of the Cedulas but of the whole market. Still, the rumour is abroad, and is fostered by the fact that the demand for the Cedulas by borrowers is as brisk as ever.

The report and balance-sheet of the Banco de la Bolsa were handed round to-day, and shew that this concern during the year amassed profits to amount of 1,208,979 dollars obtained on a capital of 5,330,000 dollars. These figures are all the more remarkable when it is considered that the bank's line of business lies almost exclusively in loans against stocks, which suffered such a general and severe collapse, that it is a wonder that the bank can shew any profits at all. Sound management, therefore, is the least praise that can be attributed to the board and staff. Another evidence of sound administration is visible in the plan of dividing the profits, 100,000 dols. being put to Reserve Fund and 400,000 dollars to the Prevision Fund. The shareholders got 5 o\o in July last and now a further dividend equal to 6 o\o, making 11 o\o in all. The figures are so remarkable that we reproduce them in full : —

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To Dr. J. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London! Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1\2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

ESPECIFICO DE Hayward en Polvo
The cheapest and most effectual Dip in the market.
It costs a fifth of the price of Tobacco Dips.
It is the easiest of application, cold water only required.
It is the only Dip that is so durable in the wool as to keep the sheep clean and free from contagion from dipping to shearing, thus saving a great deal of valuable time and labour to the Estanciero during the winter months.
It is fast becoming the favorite Dip throughout the world, as it never fails in the worst cases of Scab.
See Testimonials from Flockowners in the Argentine Republic.
Manufactured by TOMLINSON & HAYWARD, Lincoln, ENGLAND.

J. Bradford & Co.
ARE now showing the largest and best selection of Thompson's Corsets they have ever received, in WHITE, GREY, SCARLET and BLACK. For style and quality these corsets are unsurpassed and we can recommend them to our customers for durability.
We are also showing a large variety of Boxed Embroidered Robes, and Ladies' Visites in the most fashionable styles, in Lace, Bead, Broche and Silk. Dress goods in Print, Zephyr, Fancy and plain Delaines with trimmings to match. Always a good stock of black dress goods on hand. Ladies' and Children's Hosiery in Cotton, Lisle Thread and Silk.
We are showing a special line in Ladies' Black Hose which has given unprecedented satisfaction both for fast dye and durability of texture and uniting with these qualities moderation in price.
Laces, Gloves, Flours, Hats, Children's Dresses, Boys' Galatea Suits, Linens, Tablings, Sheetings and Table Covers are always to be selected from a large variety at
